Description

At Engerstraat 166 in Erps-Kwerps, you'll find a spacious bel-étage home. Originally built between 1918 and 1930 and has been carefully renovated throughout its life.

- On a plot of 387 m², the house offers approx. 178 m² of livable space, spread over three levels.
- Ground floor: entrance hall, garage with electric door, storage space, and direct access to a terrace and the beautifully landscaped garden.
 - First floor: a spacious dining and living area, toilet, kitchen, and veranda with stairs leading down to the ground-level terrace with its charming mosaic floor, and further into the garden.
 - Second floor: four bedrooms and a bathroom.

The garden itself is a real asset, featuring a garden shed, a dedicated vegetable patch, and lovely green views. EPC label F applies, though insulating the roof is sufficient to reach label D — which lifts the renovation obligation (see EPC report, pages 3 and 5). The property scores top marks (level A) for both parcel and building in relation to flood risk zone.

A home with soul, ready for its next chapter.
